

Sharing
knowledge and information on livestock health
research and
education

The International KTE Hub for Livestock Health and Welfare

MOREDUN has been working to improve the health and welfare of livestock for nearly 100 years. During this time the organisation has evolved from a small group of enlightened Scottish farmers to the world renowned research facility operating today.

Discovery, collaboration and knowledge exchange are the core principles of Moredun's work. The new International KTE Hub for Livestock Health and Welfare aims to build on and further develop international partnerships and connectivity with others engaged in similar work around the world.

- Collaborative scientific research projects
- Workshops and webinars
- Research placements and exchanges
- Social media and accessible technology
- Education and training
- Innovative communication

Outputs will improve the sustainable efficiency of livestock production and help to safeguard global food security.

research

education
connecting sharing

livestock

food security

experience

learning

partnerships

exchange

collaboration

research
security
learning
connecting
education
collaboration
exchange
partnerships
experience
livestock
sharing
food security

Contact:

Joanne Watts
KTE Hub Manager
The Moredun Foundation
Pentlands Science Park
Bush Loan
Penicuik
EH26 0PZ

tel: 0131 445 5111

fax: 0131 445 6235

web: www.moredun.org.uk email: joanne.watts@moredun.org.uk

