Promoting animal health & welfare

join us!

Do you want to:

- Be kept up to date with the latest advances in animal health?
- Receive information without commercial bias?
- Be able to make an informed choice about disease control?

Then you should be a Moredun member!

Moredun is the world leader in farm animal disease research. Formed by farmers back in the 1920's we now employ over 200 vets and scientists to research a variety of animal health problems in an effort to produce effective medicines and husbandry techniques to control them.

Our work has made such an impact that most farms now regularly use vaccines or drugs that have been researched, developed or tested at Moredun.

Moredun membership ensures you receive comprehensive information on a wealth of animal health problems written by the people leading the research in that area. This information will help develop your knowledge about animal diseases and how they can be controlled and prevented.

Benefits of Membership

- Technical newsheets produced every 3 months, each one focusing on a different animal health issue.
- Members magazine twice a year updating members on all of our research.
- An invitation to the many talks, events and meetings we hold around the UK.
- Direct contact with the vets and scientists at Moredun Research Institute for specific queries.
- Exclusive access to membership only area of Moredun's website for lots of extra information on animal health.

We have proved that our work is vital to those who work with, and care for animals. However, we need your help to secure the funds needed for our work to continue. Becoming a member of The Moredun Foundation and paying a small annual membership fee will help support vital projects and ensures that we can continue to lead the way in animal health research.
