

The Moredun Foundation was established by a group of Scottish farmers in 1920 with the purpose of preventing and controlling infectious diseases of livestock through research and education. The organization has grown significantly since then but remains true to its roots and links to the farming and agricultural community.

The Moredun Foundation is a registered charity, with over 10,000 UK members from the farming, veterinary and associated industries. The Foundation works to support animal health and welfare by improving the understanding, treatment and prevention of diseases through research and educational initiatives. The research outputs, knowledge and expertise generated at Moredun are disseminated as widely as possible to bring maximum benefits to the economy and society at large.

Moredun recognizes the value of education, experience, and travel to improve understanding of the farming and livestock industries and to encourage innovative and diverse contributions to Moredun's mission to improve the health and welfare of livestock.

The Moredun Foundation has established an award scheme to provide an opportunity for individuals to pursue a short-term project to broaden their education and experience in areas relating to livestock health and welfare and the agricultural industry.

- Up to £2,000 is available per award.
- Projects may involve travel, work experience, collaborations with science or the arts and are open to individuals over the age of 18 living in the UK with the condition that you are a member of the Moredun Foundation at the time of applying.
- This award will not fund higher education course fees, dissertations, or compulsory coursework.
