The Geoscience Context for Europe's Urban Sustainability – Lessons from Glasgow and beyond

CUSP 2014 conference

Friday May 30, 2014

SCRR members are invited to attend the CUSP2014 Conference, The Geoscience Context for Europe's Urban Sustainability – Lessons from Glasgow and beyond, to be held in the Glasgow Science Centre, 50 Pacific Quay, GLASGOW, G51 1EA on Friday May 30, 2014.

As this is a joint event organised by the Royal Society of Edinburgh (RSE), BGS, the European Cooperation on Science and Technology (COST) (Sub-Urban) and Glasgow City Council, the event is free, but if you wish to attend you must register for the CUSP Conference

You are also welcome to attend an Evening Reception hosted by Glasgow City Council (venue to be confirmed, but probably the Glasgow Science Centre) on Thursday, 29 May 2014, 19:30 to 20:30 hrs. If you wish to attend this reception, please email events@royalsoced.org.uk in advance for catering purposes.

There is also an Early Stage Researchers Workshops Programme taking place between 13:30 and 17:00 hrs on Thursday 29th May 2014, also in Glasgow Science Centre.

Venue: Glasgow Science Centre, 50 Pacific Quay, GLASGOW, G51 1EA
