Member Lunch – Global Academy of Agriculture and Food Systems

SCRR held a member's lunch hosted by the Global Academy of Agriculture and Food Systems (GAAFS), part of the University of Edinburgh.

Professor Geoff Simm, Director of GAAFS, described it as a leading interdisciplinary hub of researchers, teachers and students developing new science, and curating evidence and learning on the intersection and interdependence of the systems that underpin the health and wellbeing of people and our planet.

Professor Lindsay Jaacks, Personal Chair of Global Health and Nutrition, spoke about (Human) Nutrition and Health research being carried out at GAAFS.

Both of their talks can be viewed below.
